Daramola visits NDDC, Plead for Resuscitation of Abandoned Hostel Project

The abandoned hostel project initiated by the Niger Delta Development Commission may soon be resuscitated. This ray of hope was rekindled on Monday June 3, 2014 when the Vice-Chancellor, Professor Adebisi Daramola, paid a working visit to the headquarters of the Commission in Port Harcourt, River State.

Professor Daramola during a meeting with the Executive Director, Projects, Engineer Tuoyo Omatsui expressed the eagerness of the University to put the project to use as it would solve the accommodation problems being encountered by students.

He appealed to the leadership of the Commission to prioritize the completion of the project since similar ones in other institutions have been completed and put to use.

Responding on behalf of the Commission, Engineer Omatsui said the Commission has already put mechanism that will see to the completion of the project in place. He said relevant units in the commission had already submitted technical reports that would hasten the process of reviving and completing the project. He expressed optimism that the NDDC initiated FUTA hostel project would soon be resuscitated.

The Executive Director praised the Vice-Chancellor for his tenacity of purpose and for going out of his way to see to the development of FUTA. He said Professor Daramola's visit to the NDDC underscores his commitment to the development of the Institution he leads.
